State Librarian LUSES LIFE IN BAD AUTO CRUSH

Clifford Elliott, Five-Year-Old Boy, is Killed When Interurban Car Hits Machine.

MOTHER IS SERIOUSLY HURT

Driver Escapes in Worst Accident Which Has Happened in Recent Years in Knightstown.

When a fast interurban car struck the automobile in which he was riding at a crossing in Knightstown late yesterday evening Clifford Elliott, the five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Elliott of Knightstown was almost instantly killed and his mother, who sat beside him in the machine, was very seriously injured and may not survive the accident. The boy died about one hour after the crash as the result of his injuries. Miss Laura Wood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Woods of Knightstown, who was driving the car, escaped death in a very miraculous manner. She, however, suffered a few minor cuts and bruises. The machine was almost completely demolished.

The accident happened shortly after five o'clock yesterday evening in the eastern part of Knightstown when Miss Woods started to drive the auto across the traction line in front of a fast westbound T. H. E. & I. interurban car. Miss Woods believes that she could have escaped the collision all together if she had not become excited. She drove the car up on the track almost directly in front of the fast approaching car, before any of the occupants of the machine noticed it. She lost her self control immediately and instead of letting the machine go on and get out of the way, she "killed" the engine by throwing off the power so that the auto came to a dead standstill directly in the path of the on-rushing car. The accident happened so suddenly after the auto came to a stop that none of the occupants had an opportunity to escape by jumping. The back part of the auto was on the track and it is for that reason that the occupants of the back seat were the most seriously hurt.

When the traction car hit the auto, the Elliott boy was dragged about seventy-five feet before his body was dropped off to the side of the track. His face, head and body were terribly mashed and crushed almost beyond recognition. He was taken to a home nearby and died an hour later in great agony. Mrs. Elliott was badly hurt about the back and head. Physicians fear that she is internally injured. Miss Woods will soon recover from her injuries, which she received when she was thrown by the impact between the car and the auto.

The accident is only a duplication of numerous accidents which have occurred in this section of the State in recent months. They can in most cases be avoided if the driver of the machine does not get excited. But invariably the person at the steering wheel loses his or her presence of mind and stops the machine directly in front of the car instead of allowing it to go on and thus make an attempt to escape a collision.

The suit of August A. Miller of Connersville against the C. H. & D. railroad for fifteen thousand dollars was dismissed in the circuit court this morning and the costs paid according to the written agreement between the plaintiff and defendant. PLAN TO HOLD A MEMORIAL SERVICE

The Rev. J. W. Turner Desires Large and Representative Congregation Out Next Sunday.

SABBATH BEFORE CONFERENCE

On next Sunday morning at the St. Paul M. E. church the pastor, the Rev. J. W. Turner, will hold his last morning service before going to regular conference, which convenes at Evansville, Ind., on September 22.

He is very desirous of having a large and representative congregation of his church present for this service. During the year the pastor has conducted thirty-four funerals; so in memory of these there will be an appropriate Memorial service held on Sunday night. All families into whose homes the Rev. Mr. Turner has been called during the year are especially invited to attend this service. The object of this service will not be to call up sad memories, but to show that the pangs of death may be overcome by the gospel of Christ.

On the following Sunday night the Rev. Turner will preach in the Walnut Street Presbyterian church, one of the largest churches in Evansville.

AGED EDITOR SAYS "GO TO OREGON"

R. B. Conover of "Beaver State" Visiting Here, Declare West Holds Many Opportunities.

ESPECIALLY FOR YOUNG MEN

Miss Lulu Conover of Salem, Oregon with her father R. B. Conover is visiting her aunt Mrs. E. H. M. Berry in East Ninth street. Miss Conover with her mother, who is now dead, visited her aunt about nine years ago when she lived on a farm near here and at that time she made the acquaintance of a number of Rushville young people. She is now on her way to New York where she will remain for a year. She will probably leave for the eastern metropolis next week.

Mr. Conover, about forty-six years ago, was a resident of Greensburg where he was engaged in the printing business, owning an interest in the Standard there. He is a native of Pennsylvania, having been born near Johnson, Pa., When he went from Greensburg to the "Beaver State," Oregon, Mr. Conover thought that he had almost reached the end of the world but he discovered that there was still much good country beyond that in the "far West." He says, "Young man, go to Oregon, if you want to prosper and make a comfortable living."

BIG DAMAGE SUIT IS COMPROMISED

Case of H. G. Stager Against Big Four For $20,000 Dismissed Before Trial is Started.

PLAINTIFF SETTLES FOR $4,500

Stager Was Hit by Train at Carthage Four Years Ago and Leg Was Cut Off.

The biggest damage suit which has been set for trial in the circuit court in recent years came to a close very suddenly about ten o'clock this morning, even before the trial had been started, when the case of Henry Gear Stager, by his next best friend, Harry E. Stager, against the Big Four railroad for twenty thousand dollars damages was compromised for four thousand five hundred dollars. The compromise was affected after a conference between the attorneys, each side to pay their own costs.

The trial was expected to take up at least two days as a great amount of testimony was to be introduced. A special venire of jurors was called and even before the jurors were impanelled, the compromise was arranged. During the process of impaneling the jury, the counsel for the plaintiff and the defendant, were busy trying to arrive at some settlement which would be agreeable to all parties. The attorney for the railroad offered to dismiss the case for thirty-five hundred dollars and on each occasion was refused by the plaintiff. The attorneys for the boy, who brought suit, offered to compromise for forty-five hundred dollars. After a few hours of discussion, the counsel for the railroad yielded and dismissed the case.

Young Stager was injured by a Big Four train in Carthage four years ago last June. He was hit by a fast passenger and one of his legs was cut off. His other leg was also mixed up with the wheel and most of his toes on that foot were cut off. Young Stager is now compelled to walk around on one wooden leg.

Douglas Morris of this city and Reuben Conner of Connersville were attorneys for the plaintiff, while Cary Cowgill, general counsel for the Big Four railroad, and Smith, Cambren & Smith, local attorneys for the road, represented the defendant.

RECEIVES WORD OF RELATIVE'S DEATH

Miss Alice Schauler, Sister of Mrs. Wade Sherman, Expires at Her Brother's Home in Ohio.

HAD VISITED HERE MANY TIMES

Wade Sherman received a telegram late yesterday evening that his sister-in-law, Miss Alice Schauler, had died during the day at the home of her brother in Newark, Ohio. Miss Schauler had visited her sister, Mrs. Wade Sherman here on numerous occasions. While working as a milliner in Anderson last winter she was taken ill and was later brought to the home of her sister in this city, where it was thought that she recovered from a severe attack of bronchitis. She never fully rallied from that sickness, which eventually caused her death. Mrs. Sherman and son, Charles, were at the bedside of Miss Schauler when the end came. The funeral services will be held tomorrow.

VISIONS OF SHOW COME WITH FALL

Anticipated That Annual Horse Exhibition Will Outrival All Previous Ones.

AUCTION IS A NEW FEATURE

Planning to Erect Bleachers Along Streets For Comfort of Crowds —To Have Night Attractions.

With the coming of cool nights and warm sunny days also comes visions of the greatest fall horse show which has ever been held in this city. The officers of the organization are making an active preparation for what is believed will be the best and most popular event which has taken place here in recent years. Every detail of the show is being made before hand in preparation of making it a big success. The annual show last year was spoiled to a certain extent by rain, which it is hoped will not interfere this year.

All of the shows will be made in First street, not by the choice of the promoters, as they would rather distribute it over the various downtown streets, but of necessity. It will be utterly impossible to make any exhibits in Main street as the excavation work incident to the paving of the street will be in progress in the business district about the time of the show, which is to be held October 21 and 22. The shows can not be made in Second street on account of the erection of the new building at Main and Second streets which is now in progress.

The promoters are planning a new feature for this year's event, which will no doubt meet with the approval of the public. Bleachers will be erected along the streets where the show is to be held, for the convenience of the crowds. This is the present plan of the men in charge of the show and they hope to carry it out. They do not yet have the permission of the authorities, but it is thought that they will be allowed to build seats along the court house yard in First street. This has always been a distasteful feature of the show, as it was necessary for the large crowds of people to stand along the street, while only those near the front were able to get any view of the horses being shown. They hope to remedy that evil this year.

It is expected to have the best bunch of entries this year that was ever shown here. Now that the annual event has become well established here, there seems to be no doubt but that horse fanciers from all parts of the county, and perhaps from adjoining counties will have entries here. The other shows have never failed to bring out a big class of light harness and draft horses in each event.

The promoters of the show are planning for some night attraction which will make the annual event of more worth. The pony show will be held in the evening so that the school children can get a view of the miniature horses. There will probably be a large number of entries in these classes. It is said that an effort will be made to put on some other night attractions, but nothing definite has been planned as yet. The Indianapolis News Newsboys band will be here one day and it is expected that that one thing alone will draw a large crowd here. Not many outside attractions will be contracted for, however, as it is anticipated to make the horse show purely a Rush county event.

The monster horse auction, which will be held on the last day of the show, October 22, will be a new feature. The sale will be held in the new Davis Brothers livery barn, which is being erected after the old one was destroyed by fire. The barn will be ideal for such purposes as it will be a monster structure and will be constructed along lines which will make it ideal for a horse auction. This is expected to be one of the most popular events of the show, as such an attempt has been considered here for several years. There is every reason to believe, with such a horse county as Rush county is, that the auction can be made to be a financial success and a rival to the famous Lackey sale which is held at Cambridge City every year.

TO BE RALLY DAY AND HOME COMING

Big Celebration Will be Held at the Main Street Christian Church Next Sunday.

READY FOR FALL CAMPAIGN

Next Sunday will be Rally Day and Home Coming at the Main Street Christian church and a great gathering is expected of all members and friends of the congregation. The Sunday school has set the mark of five hundred in attendance and the Men's Brotherhood class is aiming to have a roll call of an even hundred. All other classes are working to get out the full enrollment. The school, under the superintendency of Harry Clifford and the help of a fine corps of teachers is doing splendid work. The orchestra conducted by Harry Lucas is the best the church has ever had. There will be special music and other exercises Sunday.

At the regular preaching service the Rev. R. W. Abberley will preach at 10:30 a. m. on "Soldiers of Christ," and at 7:30 p. m. he will deliver a lecture-sermon on "Love and Courtship." All members and friends of the church are expected to rally and help make it a great day to start the fall campaign.

YOUNG OPERATOR IS SERIOUSLY HURT

B. A. Thorp of Knightstown is Shot in Abdomen While at Work in Depot.

DIFFERENT VERSIONS OF IT

B. A. Thorpe, night operator at the Big Four Station at Knightstown, is lying in a critical condition at his home in Knightstown as the result of a pistol wound in his abdomen. It is feared that young Thorpe can not recover from the injury, which physicians say is very serious. He is a young married man and has no children.

Different versions have been given to the nature of the accident in which he was wounded. The shot is said to have been fired by John Dwane of Knightstown with a revolver. Some have it that Dwane was examining the pistol, when it was accidentally discharged, the bullet lodging in Thorpe's abdomen. Another version is that the men who were in the party at the depot, intentionally fired three shots at the floor and that one of them glanced up, striking Thorpe.

LOCAL REINSMEN BREAK IN MONEY

Harrie Jones Gets Second in Summaries With Lady Winwood in 2:18 Trot at State Fair.

IS OWNED BY JOHN FRAZIER

Clell Maple Finishes With Princess Adra at Toledo and Frank Lindsay is inPurse.

Rushville horses and Rushville reinsmen won all over the land yesterday and brought added laurels to Rush county as a fast horse center. Harrie Jones won second money in the 2:18 trot with Lady Winwood, a Rush county mare, at the State fair in Indianapolis yesterday. He won first in the second heat and his entry was a consistent performer in the other four heats, when she finished second each time. Clell Maple took second money with Princess Adra in the 2:16 pace at Toledo, Ohio. Frank Lindsay finished fourth with Lady J in the 2:18 pace at Huntington.

Lady Winwood, with whom Harrie Jones won second money at the State fair yesterday, is the property of John Frazier, who lives on the old Cherry farm a short distance west of the city on the Indianapolis pike. The mare has been a good performer all season in the Jones stable and promises to be even a better race horse next year. The chestnut mare was about the only real contender which Lady Heroine, the winner of the race, had. The local horseman fought hard for the first heat and finished only a short distance behind Lady Heroine, with the remainder of the field of eight starters closely bunched. Lady Winwood was equal to the occasion in the second heat and won handily although J. M. F. was close on her heels. She had to give the first position in the third heat to Billy Pateh, she finishing a close second. Lady Heroine came back in the fourth and won it and the last, giving her first position in the summary. The local horse was consistent and stayed in second position when she could not land first. The fastest mile of the race came in the first heat, when Lady Heroine won in 2:09 1/4. Lady Winwood led the field home in 2:11 1/2 in the second heat. Great things are predicted of the mare for next year.

Clell Maple was able to take second money with Princess Adra in the 2:16 pace at Toledo yesterday. The mare is owned by a Montpelier banker and has been a good performer all season. She won a great race at Dayton, Ohio, last week in good time. She finished second, sixth and third, the best mile being made in 2:14 1/2 yesterday.

Frank Lindsay was in the money with Lady J in the 2:18 pace at the Huntington races yesterday. She was able to land fourth position by finishing third twice and seventh once. Lindsay has been campaigning the mare all season and has seldom ever failed to get inside the money.

Harrie Jones had two horses entered in the free-for-all pace at the State fair today, Gordon Prince, Jr., and Aleyfras. It was thought that he would race Aleyfras as Gordon Prince, Jr., raced Monday and was distanced in the second heat when he became frightened at a bolt of lightning. Local horsemen concede a position to Jones today if he starts Aleyfras. The poan mare is said to be very fast. It will be remembered that she reduced the half-mile track record at the fair grounds here by going over the distance in 2:09 flat, which was a few seconds lower than the former record.

By the introduction of new presses the Government Printing Office is able to turn out 3,000,000 postal cards a day.

It left the tree, entered the rig at the door which was standing open and set the cushions on fire and would have burned the rig, but Mr. Cook saw it and dashed out in the heavy downpour of rain and put it out.

GOMPERS'S TALK AIDS BEVERIDGE

Endorses Labor Candidates Who Support Senator.

LABOR LEADER IS FRANK

Urges Labor Men to Rally Back of Unionists on Tickets—Beveridge Men So Aided Largely Outnumber Democrats—Meaning of Gompers's Friendly Talk Made Clear—Speaks Once For Democrat, Dozen Times For Beveridge.

Speaking in favor of some twelve Republican candidates for the legislature, and on behalf of one Democratic aspirant, Samuel Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, entered the Indiana state campaign last Friday. While Mr. Gompers did not use the names of candidates, he declared it to be the duty of labor men, as he sees it, to support labor candidates and the friends of labor in politics.

As the Republicans in Indiana already have eleven or twelve labor men running for the legislature in the state, and as the Democrats have only two labor representatives on their tickets, Mr. Gompers's speech calling for support is regarded by labor men as being largely to the advantage of Senator Beveridge and the Republican legislative candidates generally.

Mr. Gompers, speaking to an Indianapolis audience, declared that Senator Beveridge is one of the best senators now serving the people.

An effort was made by Democratic politicians to make Mr. Gompers's meeting a Democratic and political affair. This attempt was resented by labor men. Mr. Gompers referred to Democratic pledges of 1908, and once made it plain to his hearers that he is not speaking this year under the auspices of the Democratic party. He declares that he does not care who is helped or hurt, politically, by his speeches in labor's behalf.

WASHINGTON IS ALL WORKED UP

President's Latest Causes a Stir Among Politicians.

CREATED PROFOUND INTEREST

Mr. Taft's Changed Attitude Toward the Insurgents Whom He Had Deprived of Their Share in Federal Patronage Is the General Topic of Comment at the National Capital Just Now.

Washington, Sept. 16.—The announcement from Beverly of President Taft's changed attitude toward insurgent senators and representatives in the matter of federal patronage has created profound interest here.

There have been indications the past week that such a change of policy was being evolved. The senators who have been deprived of their patronage as a matter of political discipline or who have been heard to complain that their recommendations were ignored are La Follette of Wisconsin, Bristow of Kansas and Cummins and Dooliver of Iowa.

Senator Beveridge had some difficulty about postmasters and there was quite a flurry at one time last spring because it was currently reported that President Taft had asked ex-Senator Hemenway and ex-Representative Watson to submit a list of postmasters in Indiana who should be named to office. But this was finally adjusted in a way that satisfied Senator Beveridge. He had an experience more recently that was not so satisfactory. A vacancy occurred in the office of deputy auditor of the postoffice department. An Indiana man shocked the country by resigning, breaking all precedents of Indiana officeholders. The office had been held by Indiana men since President McKinley's first term. Senator Beveridge immediately recommended an Indiana Republican for the vacancy. After some hesitation the treasury department announced that the office had been abolished as a matter of economy, there having been two deputy auditors for the postoffice department, and it was announced that one could perform the work. Senator Beveridge's friends asserted that the department abolished the office rather than appoint the man he had recommended and thus give him the opportunity of strengthening his candidacy for re-election.

Senator Bristow's complaint against the administration was uttered just about the time congress adjourned, when he was not permitted to name the postmaster for his home city, Salina, Kan. His recommendation of a collector of internal revenue was also disregarded, and his colleague, Senator Curtis, was allowed to name the man. Senator Bristow voiced his indignation in an interview.

Senator La Follette's case was probably the most conspicuous. By an arrangement with his colleague, Senator Stephenson, which was made under the administration of Mr. Roosevelt, who acquiesced in the plan, Mr. Stephenson was to be allowed to recommend the federal officers in the western judicial district of Wisconsin, and Senator La Follette to make recommendations for the eastern district. Senator Stephenson's men were named and confirmed and are now in office. Senator La Follette made his recommendation nearly a year ago, and although the terms expired about that time, the men who were then the incumbents are still in office. Furthermore, Senator Stephenson felt encouraged to recommend men to fill the offices in the eastern district, and within a few months he has put on file a recommendation for a district attorney in the eastern district and for a collector of customs in Milwaukee in disregard of the arrangements by which the patronage was to be divided.

The administration went even further in the case of La Follette and turned down the senator's recommendation of a man for census supervisor in one of the congressional districts in Wisconsin in face of the fact that La Follette was chairman of the census committee of the senate and in a position to have held up nominations of census officers which were referred to his committee for a report, after being sent to the senate and before confirmation. The senator from Wisconsin, however, made no reprisal, but reported the nominations promptly.

Immediately after the Wisconsin primaries which renominated La Follette the question of whether his recommendations for federal offices were to be respected in the future in view of the apparent endorsement he had received from the Republicans of his state, was put up to the administration. The matter was considered in Washington and in Beverly, and while no public announcement has yet been made with respect to La Follette individually, his friends here have gained the impression in some way that the president will act favorably upon the senator's recommendations in the future.

Senator Beveridge submitted one or two minor recommendations to government departments a few days ago and they were promptly honored. At the same time he was given to understand that his recommendations as a senator will in the future be carried out in matters relating to his own state.

HE RELENTS

President Taft Restores Insurgents to His Favor.

PRESIDENT SEEKS TO REUNITE THE PARTY

The Insurgents Once More in Administration Favor.

Beverly, Mass., Sept. 16.—President Taft has taken the initiative in an effort to reunite the Republican party. He has announced through his secretary his intention of restoring federal patronage to all insurgents. This announcement is regarded here as an expression of willingness on the part of the president to align himself more closely with the progressive forces. It amounts to an acknowledgment by the president that the progressives in several states now make up the Republican party. President Taft's advisers realize that his action will be construed in some places as a bid for progressive support and as an effort to keep the trail blazed by Roosevelt. On the contrary, the president, it is contended, is actuated chiefly by a desire to accord to the progressives what he regards as their due now that they have been sustained in the primaries and in the nominating conventions.

"The people have spoken," says the president's secretary, "and as we face the fall elections the question must be settled by Republicans of every shade of opinion whether the differences of the last session shall be perpetuated or shall be forgotten."

The president's attitude, as his secretary frankly outlines it in a letter to an Iowa politician, is that Mr. Taft cut off the patronage of several of the insurgents because he believed in the last session of congress that they were obstructing his efforts to fulfill the party's pledges. Whether this withholding of patronage by the president produced any favorable results for him is open to doubt. Some of his friends contended at the time that it was a great mistake, and it has been cited as one of the causes which has intensified insurgency in some of the western states in the last few months.

Lesson XII.—Third Quarter, For Sept. 18, 1910.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, Matt. xxii, 15-22, 34-46—Memory Verses, 37-39—Golden Text, Matt. xxii, 21—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

This lesson is found in Matthew, Mark and Luke and tells how by the Herodians and Sadducees and Pharisees they sought to entangle Him in His talk. Luke says that they sent forth spies who should feign themselves just men that they might take hold of His words that so they might deliver Him unto the power and authority of the governor (Luke xx, 20.) Consider who He was and who they were. See the Creator watched, criticised, hated, rejected by the creatures whom He had made and to whom He gave life and health and all things, and yet He patiently suffers it and would love and bless them if they would only let Him.

The flattering words of verse 16 are nothing new, for we read in Ps. lxxviii, 36, "They did flatter Him with their mouth, and they lied unto Him with their tongues, for their heart was not right with Him. * * * But He, being full of compassion, forgave their iniquity and destroyed them not." As He perceived their wickedness and asked for a piece of money and from it answered their question they marvel at Him and held their peace and left Him and went their way (verse 22, with Mark and Luke). Do you covet such wisdom, not that you may be wondered at, but that He may be glorified? If so, remember that Stephen was so filled with faith and power that they were not able to resist the wisdom and the spirit by which he spoke (Acts vi, 8, 10). It is indeed true what they said of Jesus at this time, "Thou regardest not the person of men," so that we also may be filled with His spirit and wisdom if we will. It ought to be said of every teacher, "Thou art true and teachest the way of God in truth, neither carest thou for any man" (verse 16), for it is also written by the Spirit that our attitude should always be "not as pleasing men, but God, who trieth our hearts." And again, "If I yet pleased men I should not be the servant of Christ" (I Thess. ii, 4; Gal. i, 10). When questions arise about the right or wrong of this or that, let us first ask, Whose image do I bear? and that ought to settle it easily. As the redeemed of the Lord, the world, the flesh and the devil have no just claim upon us, and it is our privilege gladly to render all to God, whose we are. They left Him and went their way (verse 22). We are too apt to do this. Let our prayer be, "Teach me Thy way, O Lord, and lead me in a plain path because of mine enemies" (Ps. xxvii, 11).

The same day came the Sadducees with a question which they thought would perplex Him, but His reply to them was, "Ye do err, not knowing the Scriptures nor the power of God" (verse 29). Dr. Schofield's note is worth quoting: "Jesus' answer gives the three 'incapacities of the rationalist—self deception (Rom. i, 21-22), ignorance of the spiritual content of Scripture (Acts xiii, 27), disbelief in the intervention of divine power (II Pet. iii, 5)." Note how our Lord emphasizes the great truth of resurrection (30-32) and see the plain teaching of Job ix, 25, 27; Isa. xxvi, 19; Dan. xii, 2, etc. See also how our Lord says that Ex. iii, 15, teaches not only life apart from the body, but also the resurrection of the body, and note how He indorses the story of the burning bush, which is today ridiculed by the wisdom of this world (Mark xii, 26; Luke xx, 37). In verse 31, in the words "Have ye not read that which was spoken unto you by God?" we have our Lord's indorsement of Rom. xv, 4, "Whatsoever things were written aforetime were written for our learning." Unless we hear God speaking to our souls as we read His word we have not read with profit and should read until His word takes hold of us with power. In verse 30 His word that in the resurrection we shall be "as the angels," or, as in Luke, "equal unto the angels," is explained by His saying concerning marriage.

The next tempter is a lawyer scribe who wants to know which is the first or great commandment in the law. To him Jesus quotes Deut. vi, 4, 5; Lev. xix, 18, summing up the Ten Commandments in love to God and to man and adding, "On these two commandments hang all the law and the prophets" (verse 40). "There is none other commandment greater than these" (Mark xii, 31). Mark records the scribe's reply to Jesus and that Jesus said to him, "Thou art not far from the kingdom of God." He seemed to understand the truth, but went away to continue to establish his own righteousness, not submitting to the righteousness of God (Rom. x, 2-4). As to this summary of the law see also Rom. xiii, 8-10.

And now Jesus has a question for the Pharisees as to whose Son the Messiah is to be, to which they promptly reply, "The Son of David." Then come from our Lord the quotation from Ps. cx and the question, How can He be David's Son since David by the Spirit calls Him Lord? No one could answer, and this shut them up for the present. As a man Jesus was of the house of David (Rom. i, 3). As God He was David's Lord—truly a man, truly God, both the root and the offspring of David (Rev. xxii, 16).

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning Sept. 18, 1910.

Topic—Resist the devil. How?—Jas. iv, 1-10; I Pet. v, 8, 9. Edited by Rev. Sherman H. Doyle, D. D.

There are many references in the word of God to the devil. The word "devil" means "slanderer," and in this particular we see his name illustrated in the book of Job, where he slanders Job before God. The name "Satan," so frequently applied to him, means "adversary." In the temptation of Eve this is the word that is used, simply "adversary." But Satan is particularly the adversary of the human soul. Having lost his own spiritual position in relation to God, he is everlastingly engaged in leading the souls of men and women astray, that they may be as he is. This is also a characteristic of those whom Satan has won to sin and evil. We would imagine that those who have fallen into sin and have experienced its consequences would strive to warn others and to keep them from falling. But, alas, in most cases they delight to draw them down to their own level. It is a monstrous trait of an evil one, yet it is true. The spirit of the devil in this respect seems to possess them. How necessary, therefore, to "resist the devil," not even for our own sakes, but to escape such a doom as delighting in ruining the eternal souls of others!

The origin of the devil is not greatly dwelt upon in the Scriptures. It is, however, distinctly taught that he is a real spiritual being, once an angel from heaven who was cast out of heaven for some sin, probably the sin of ambition, as Milton declares in "Paradise Lost." The Bible does teach that the devil is a spiritual being, possessing a power far above man and possessing great skill and tact in attacking the weak places in man's spiritual character. "Your adversary, the devil, walketh about, seeking whom he may devour." If he were a physical foe we might not fear him so much, but being a powerful, unseen enemy, knowing just when and how to attack us, we do indeed need to be constantly on our guard against him and his associates, the evil spirits of sinful men.

How are we to resist the devil? We should, that is sure, for James says, "Resist the devil and he will flee from you." Evil in any form is usually cowardly. Satan and sinful men seek easy victims, but are afraid of strong, vigilant souls. We should therefore resist him. (1) By submitting our souls to God. Then, with the armor of God around us, God will fight our battles, and God is more powerful than the devil. (2) By prayer. In temptation go to God in prayer. Draw nigh unto God, and the nearer you go to Him the farther you will go from the devil. (3) Be on your guard at all times. "Be sober, be vigilant," resisting the devil in the faith. (4) Fill your life with good thoughts and good deeds and the devil will have no chance to successfully tempt you. "Cease to do evil by learning to do well." "Humble yourselves in the sight of the Lord and He will draw thee up." (5) Use the Scripture as a sword of offense and defense. It is double edged and can do great harm. Thus Christ beat off Satan in the great temptation. Satan used the Scripture, falsely interpreted, as he and his associates so often attempt today in the warfare against Christ. But Christ understood the Bible too well for him. In each instance Christ used also the sword of the Spirit, the Bible, only He thrust it a little deeper into the adversary, and after the third clash of arms the devil fled from Him, and angels administered to Christ.

A Tribute From Manchuria.

Rev. A. V. Bryan, writing from Port Arthur, Manchuria, about the value of Christian Endeavor, said:

"When I think of the great help Christian Endeavor has been to the church at large I wonder that any one, especially the pastors, can criticize it. It seems to me that the organization was begun at just the right time. When I was a boy there was no place in the church for those who were not born in that church. They were set aside by the older element and told to wait. Your organization gave a chance to those who otherwise would have been lost to the church. And I recognize the great change that has come over the church when I see the younger generation coming out to the foreign field and see the Christian nurture and culture they have, which place them far ahead of what I was at the same time of life. In Japan there are military academies that are taking young boys and training them for future military service. It must be so as long as this country is a military power. You are preparing the future church army, and any pastor who is interested, as he should be, in the spread of the church ought to help you in any way he can. If criticisms are made of your organization, there are many who find fault with the churches, but the only thing to do is to recognize that neither is perfect, but always striving for better things."

A NOBLE RECORD

Of many hundreds of thousands of cures forms a well sustained basis for every claim put forth by the makers of DR. PIERCE'S GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY as a remedy for many of the troublesome affections which afflict mankind; yet it is not extolled as a "cure-all" by any means. No extravagant promises are flaunted before the public to arouse false hopes in the afflicted. Your neighbors probably know of some of its many cures; ask them.

Through strengthening and arousing the stomach, liver and bowels into vigorous action, digestion is promoted, whereby the blood is enriched and purified, disease-producing bacteria destroyed and expelled from the body, and thus a long list of skin, scrofulous and kindred affections are overcome and sound, vigorous health established.

The "Discovery" contains no alcohol and no habit-forming drugs, and has its every ingredient printed on its wrappers. This OPEN PUBLICITY places it in a class distinct from the ordinary secret nostrums with which it has no relationship. Physicians, therefore, do not hesitate to prescribe it in bad cases of indigestion, torpid liver or biliousness and in skin and blood affections. People of intelligence and keen discernment employ it. The "Discovery" is a pure glyceric extract of native medicinal roots of great curative potency, and can in no case do harm to either child or adult. The aged find it a great invigorator.

You can learn more about this time proven and popular "Discovery" from the People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, by Dr. R. V. If Teddy would change over that first person singular to first person plural, he would find that the whole band sounds better than any single instrument.

Why not start a movement for an amendment to the United States constitution creating the office of past president. In lodge circles this functionary is considerable pumpkins.

The auto fatalities of the year number 237, but prudence in the operation of the machines is increasing in much less ratio. Many city councils are passing ordinances forbidding any one below 18 or 20 years old to run automobiles. Perhaps it were wise for our city council to follow suit and not wait until a frightful accident has happened.

Uncle Joseph Cannon is solid in his own district. The local pride of Danville and the congressional territory of which it is the pivotal point will make the venerable speaker the Republican candidate for congress and he will be re-elected, despite the fact that his policies are not approved by the insurgents. The Danville district knows a celebrity when it sees one and is correspondingly conscious of being in possession of one in the person of the famous standpatter. As long as he gives that district the publicity it is now receiving on account of his notable personality it is likely the Republicans will continue to run him for congress.

Because of disturbed political conditions it is quite likely that President Taft will abandon his proposed Panama trip this fall. He and his friends feel that it is quite necessary for him to remain in command of the political craft which at the present time is riding on an ugly sea. Undoubtedly the result of the Maine election has had much to do with the change of the President's plans. This Democratic victory is looked upon in the light of a political calamity by the majority of Republicans, and it is realized that the wave of Democratic sentiment must be handled with a full crew of stalwarts.

It is stated that Congressman Barnard of this district will probably be assisted in his campaign by some of his colleagues of the National House. He has a right to be confident of re-election in the Sixth district in view of the principles and policies he represents, and his own high character. The district is Republican, the voters are intelligent and patriotic and Judge Barnard deserves well at the hands of the people he so ably represents.

In a spirit of jest some fellow wrote the following paragraph, but there is more to it than mere fun: "He told his twelve-year old boy to milk the cows, then feed the horses, slop the pigs and hunt the eggs, then feed the calves and get the colt into the stable. After this was done the boy had to split wood and kindling fill up the wood-box and then go to the milk house and stir up the cream. After supper he had to pump fresh water into the creamery and get his lessons before going to bed, while his dad went to the school house to attend a meetin' at which he and his neighbors tried to settle the question: 'How can we keep the boys on the farm?'"

ROOSEVELT ON CORRUPTION

There are just two sources of danger to the American people—lawless violence and corruption. I am a good party man, but a good American first. In questions affecting the vital principles of American life I know no party. If the people of America are content to send men to represent them in the state or national legislature who have not obtained their offices honestly, whom they know to have practiced corruption, they may make up their minds to get the government to which they are entitled, and a bad government it will be. My friends, I ask you to purify your politics; that you hold accountable the scoundrel, great or small, who has been guilty of corruption.

Democratic Governor States Policy In Matter of Prison Wardenship.

The Democratic governor lays down this program for the wardenship of the state's prison, for which job Ed Fagarty, of South Bend, is said to be slated.

"Any man whom the board may select for the place will be entirely satisfactory to me, provided he will promise to carry out the principles of prison government laid down by Warden Reid and will retain all the late warden's assistants and employees, unless cause presents itself for their removal as provided by law. I earnestly desire that the record established by the late warden for keeping the institution free from politics be upheld by whoever succeeds him."

If the governor carries out this praiseworthy program the Jackson spoils Democrats will gnash their teeth anew.

It is hoped the executive will be not only able but willing to persist in the course he outlines. The spoilsmen already are besieging the governor's office with demands and importations. The job-hungry are astir. The new warden, according to the set Marshall policy, will be a Democrat.

A most remarkable feature of the record-breaking mile of Minor Heir, 1:59, at the Indianapolis track on Monday, when he defeated Hedge-wood Boy. Lady Maud C and George Gano, was the evenness in which the mile was rated. The first quarter was covered in 29 3/4 seconds, the second in 29 1/4 seconds, the third in 30 1/4 seconds and the final quarter in 29 3/4 seconds. Lady Maud C, who finished second, was officially timed in 2:00 flat, which is the fastest mile she ever covered, either in a race or a workout.

The performance of the Savage quartet of pacers on the opening day of the Indiana State Fair proved to be the most marvelous exhibition of extreme speed ever witnessed. Minor Heir, by establishing a new world's record in a race, reduced his previous record of 1:59 1/4, made against time last fall. This makes Minor Heir the fastest pacer in the world without the aid of the windshield or the runner in front. The son of Heir-at-Law has been a most wonderful horse ever since he first made his bow to the public. His first season resulted in his obtaining a mark faster than any green pacer had obtained and since then his performances have been in keeping with the record he made his first year out.

Minor Heir does not have to be "driven," in the common acceptance of the term, and for that reason his latest performance deceived many of the spectators, who believed that had Hersey desired he could have stepped the stallion a full second faster. It is true that he finished with apparent reserve and seemed to be less strung out than any horse in a world's record performance, but as noted, this was due in a great measure to the fact that Minor Heir resents the use of the whip, and has to be allowed to race in his own manner, which, by the way, is a wonderfully good one.

Had some of the other horses in the Savage stable been able to come up and carry the champion the last fifty yards it is possible that he would have clipped a quarter of a second from his record. But one does not need to speculate on what might have been accomplished. What was done was sufficient.

The exhibition by all four of the horses was so out of the ordinary that it is deserving of all the praise it has since received. Two minute pacing classes have been advertised in the past, but this was the first time the public has had the privilege of seeing four horses race in practically two minutes. Lady Maud C was separately timed in two minutes. George Gano, from whom he started, must have gone the mile equally as fast. The Gambetta Wilkes stallion was not quite flattened out, and, on that account, neither Turner, who drove Gano, nor Hersey, who was behind Minor Heir, but who had an eye on all of the other horses in the race, expected to get the word.

Still it was not a bad start, Gano flattened out quickly, and went a remarkable mile, and it is to be remembered that it was the first time that Levi Turner had handled the ribbons over the horse. Hedge-wood Boy was right up close, the three last horses were all lapped on each other, but the son of Chitwood had pulled a sulky with a flat tire a considerable part of a mile.

Harry Hersey is deserving of all credit for keeping four horses in condition to race fast miles week after week, going from two to four exhibitions each week. Everybody knows how difficult it is to keep one horse in condition to meet his engagements from week to week during the short Grand Circuit season, but to keep four in shape to pace right around two minutes so frequently as the Savage horses are asked to do, is worthy of more than passing praise.

CORN IS FAST RIPENING

Some Fields Will Soon be Ready for the Shuckers.

Farmers who were in the city today say the corn is ripening fine and that if the weather remains fine for two more weeks there will be some fields that will be ready for the cutters and the shocks will begin to appear. The cool nights do not seem to be retarding the ripening of the corn, except in the lowlands, where it remains green and some fields that are low will very likely be caught by the frosts if they come in a biting stage before the end of this month.

WORRY DOES KILL.

It Slowly but Surely Destroys the Cells of the Brain.

Modern science has brought to light nothing more curiously interesting than that worry will kill. More remarkable still, it has been able to determine just how worry does kill.

It is believed by many scientists who have followed carefully the growth of the science of brain diseases that scores of the deaths set down to their causes are due to worry and that alone. The theory is a simple one, so simple that any one can readily understand it.

Briefly put, it amounts to this: Worry injures beyond repair certain cells of the brain, and, the brain being the nutritive center of the body, the other organs become gradually injured, and when some diseases of these organs or a combination of them arises death finally ensues.

Thus worry kills. Insidiously, like many other diseases, it creeps upon the brain in the form of a single, constant, never lost idea, and as a dropping of water over a period of years will wear a groove in the stone, so does worry gradually, imperceptibly and no less surely destroy the brain cells that lead all the rest, which are, so to speak, the commanding officers of mental power, health and motion.

Worry, to make the theory still stronger, is an irritant at certain points, which produces little harm if it comes at intervals or irregularly. Occasional worryment the brain can cope with, but the iteration and the reiteration of one idea of a disquieting sort the cells of the brain are not proof against.

It is as if the skull were laid bare and the surface of the brain struck lightly with a hammer every few seconds with mechanical precision, with never a sign of a stop or the failure of a stroke. Just in this way does the annoying idea, the maddening thought that will not be done away with, strike or fall upon certain nerve cells, never ceasing, diminishing the vitality of the delicate organisms that are so minute that they can be seen only under the microscope.—Journal of Physiological Therapeutics.

JUVENILE BLOCKHEADS.

Stupid Boys Who Developed Into World Famous Men.

There is quite a long record of famous men who in their boyhood were regarded as fools and dullards. Sir Walter Scott was called a "blockhead" by his mother. The mother of Brinsley Sheridan despaired of teaching him the simplest elements. Her death aroused him to activity and he became a scholar, philosopher, poet, wit, statesman and orator. Dean Swift, the keenest wit of his age, was "plucked" at Dublin university. Newton, Shakespeare, Michelangelo and Oliver Goldsmith all come in the category.

One day a slatternly woman rushed out of a little grocer's shop gripping an unkempt boy by the ear, and as she pulled him along she shouted to her neighbor:

"My heart is fairly broke with that brat, Tammy, and he is so stupid he can learn nothin'!"

That stupid brat Tammy became the poet Tom Moore.

In a country schoolhouse in Queen's county, Ireland, a boy with a blunt knife cut in the desk "A. W." the initials of his name. The teacher, who caught him in the act, cried out:

"Stupid, you are better at cutting letters and destroying desks than you are at learning your lessons!"

That boy was Arthur Wellesley, known to fame as the Duke of Wellington, hero of Waterloo.

In the middle years of the last century, in St. Malachy's college, Belfast, a boy carved the letters "C. R." in the wood. The French professor reported him and declared that he "was besides a worthless boy, who would never amount to anything."

"I will amount to more than you!" returned the youth.

He did, for he became lord chancellor of England—Lord Russell of Kiljowen.—London Graphic.

AMUSEMENTS

The Vaudet will offer something new in moving pictures tonight in the film, "An Aerial Elopement." The picture tells of the rough and stormy ways of two young lovers whose plans are thwarted on every side by her father, who would have his daughter marry a wealthy Jew and thus cancel the heavy debt which he owed the foreigner. By the means of the aeroplane, stationed on top of the church, the young man is able to carry his bride triumphantly away. The complications which arise are exceedingly entertaining. Jean Taylor will sing a new illustrated song.

The Star Grand offers two subjects tonight. The first is entitled "A Miscalculation." It is a farical comedy, portraying the adventures of an astronomer, who anticipated that Halley's comet would end the world. The second subject is an educational industrial film, beautifully colored, and depicting picturesque scenes of keen interest, entitled "Butter Making in Normandy." Earl Robertson will sing "I long to see Sweet Ireland."

The Palace theater will have a complete change of program tonight.

CHAPTER XIV.
DISCLOSURES.

CARMICHAEL sat in the office of the consulate. His letter of resignation was on its way, but it would be in November before he heard definitely from the department. By that time the great snows would have blanketed the earth and the nadir of his discontent would be reached. But what to do till that time? He could ride for some weeks, but riding without companionship was rather a lonesome affair. His own defiance of the chancellor had erected a barrier between her highness and himself. They would watch him now, evade him, put small obstacles in his path, obstacles against which he could enter no reasonable complaint. A withered leaf, a glove and a fan—these represented the sum of his romance.

Two figures moved in the garden beneath. When the two heads came together swiftly and then separated, both smiling, he realized that he had witnessed a kiss. Ah, here was the opportunity, and, by the Lord Harry, he would not let it slip. If this fellow meant wrongly toward Gretchen—and how could he mean else?—he, Carmichael, would take the matter boldly into his hands to do some ending. He laughed. Here would be another souvenir, to have ended—

He jumped to his feet, dropped his pipe on the sill of the window and made for his hat and sword cane. The clerk went on with his writing.

To gain the garden Carmichael would have to pass through the tavern. The first person he encountered was Colonel von Wallenstein. Wallenstein spoke to Frau Bauer, who answered him with cold civility. Wallenstein twirled his mustache, laughed and went into the garden. Neither Gretchen nor the vintner saw Wallenstein. He watched them with an evil smile. After some deliberation he walked lightly toward the lovers.

"A pretty picture!" he said.

"Leave us, Gretchen," said the vintner, with a deceiving gentleness.

Gretchen started reluctantly down the path. As she stepped off the path to go round the colonel he grasped her rudely and kissed her on the cheek. She screamed, and this scream brought Carmichael upon the scene. He saw the vintner run forward and dash his fist into the soldier's face. Wallenstein fell back hurt and blinded. The vintner, active as a cat, saw Carmichael coming on a run. He darted toward him and before Carmichael could prevent him dragged the sword cane away. The blade, thin and pliant, flashed and none too soon. The colonel had already drawn his saber.

"Save him!" Gretchen wrung her hands.

The two blades met spitefully. Half a dozen thrusts and parries convinced the colonel that the raging youth knew what he was doing. Down swooped the saber cuttingly. The blade of the sword cane snapped like a pipestem. The latter came on, and there was death's intent.

Meantime Carmichael had found a short hop pole. He hit the saber with good will. Back came the steel. The colonel did not care whom or what he struck at now. When Carmichael returned the compliment he swung his hop pole as the old crusaders did their broadswords. The saber dropped uninjured, but the colonel's arm dangled at his side. He was in agony. Carmichael's anger abated none.

"You're a fine example of a soldier! Are you mad to attack a man this way? They will break you for this, or my name's not Carmichael."

"I shall kill you for this!"

"Bah! I have fought more times than you have years to your counting," with good, Yankee spirit. "But if you think I'll waste my time in fighting a duel with you, you're up the wrong tree."

"Go to the devil!"

"Not just at present. There's too much for me to do."

Gretchen and the vintner had vanished. Carmichael agreed that it was the best thing for them to do. The vintner was no coward, but he was discreet. Somebody might ask questions. So Carmichael returned to the consulate, equally indifferent what the colonel did or where he went. Of the vintner he thought, "The hot headed young fool, to risk his life like that!" He would see later what he meant in regard to Gretchen. Poor little goose girl!

"Are you hurt, excellency?" asked the clerk solicitously.

"Hurt?"

"Yes, I heard a woman scream and ran to the window. It was a good fight. But that fellow—ah! To run away and leave you, an outsider, to fight his battle!"

"He would have been sliced in two if I hadn't come to the front. A hop pole isn't half bad. I'll bet that lady's man has a bad arm for some time to come. As for the vintner, he had good reasons for taking to his heels."

"Good reasons?" But there was a sly look in the clerk's eyes.

"No questions, if you please."

"Very well, excellency." And quietly the clerk returned to his table of figures. But later he intended to write a letter, unsigned, to his serene highness.

Carmichael, scowling, undertook to answer his mail, but not with any remarkable brilliancy or coherency.

And in this condition of mind Grumbach found him—Grumbach, accompanied by the old clock mender from across the way and a gypsy Carmichael had never seen before.

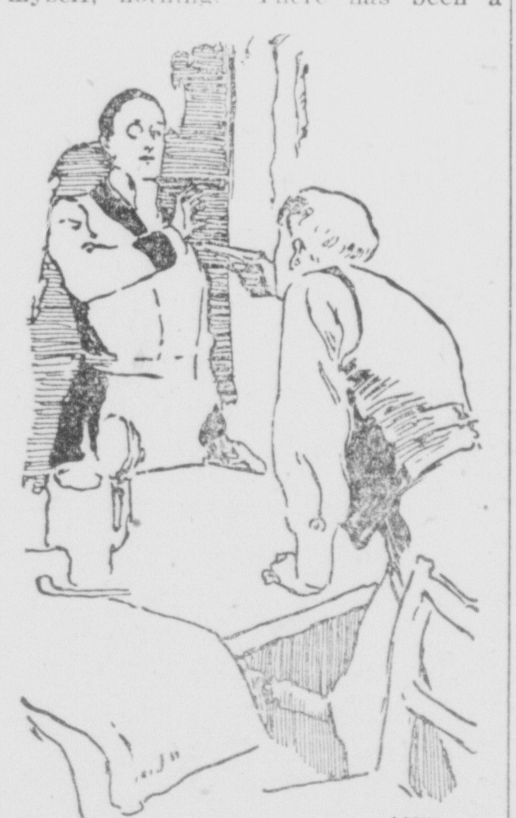

"Tell your clerk to leave us," said Grumbach.

"Something serious, eh?" Carmichael dismissed the clerk, telling him to return after the noon hour.

"I have already spoken to you about it," Grumbach returned. "But I am here to ask a favor, a great favor, one that will need all your diplomacy to gain for me."

"Ah!"

"For myself I ask nothing. A horrible blunder has been made. You will go to the grand duke and ask immunity for this gypsy and this clock mender as witnesses to the disclosure which I shall make to his highness. Without this immunity my lips will be sealed forever. As I said, I ask nothing for myself, nothing. There has been a great blunder and a great wrong, too, but God sent me here to right it. Will you do this?"

"But why don't you want immunity for yourself?"

GOOD NEWS

Many Rushville Readers Have Heard it and Profited Thereby.

"Good news travels fast," and the thousands of bad back sufferers in Rushville are glad to learn that prompt relief is within their reach. Many a lame, weak and aching back is bad no more, thanks to Doan's Kidney Pills. Thousands upon thousands of people are telling the good news of their experience with the Old Quaker Remedy. Here is an example worth reading:

Mrs. L. W. Smith, R. F. D. No. 19, Arlington, Ind., says: "My child was afflicted with kidney complaint and suffered severely from backache and headaches. The doctors could give no relief and the various remedies that were tried proved just as useless. At last we learned of Doan's Kidney Pills and my husband obtained a box. This preparation soon brought relief and since taking it, the child has been in much better health. I give Doan's Kidney Pills my most hearty endorsement."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50c. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

NO MORE GRAY HAIR

It is easier to preserve the color of the hair than to restore it, although it is possible to do both. Our grandmothers understood the secret. They made and used a "sage tea" and their dark, glossy hair long after middle life was due to this fact. Our mothers have gray hairs before they are fifty, but they are beginning to appreciate the wisdom of our grandmothers in using "sage tea" for their hair, and are fast following suit. The present generation has the advantage of the past in that it can get a ready to use preparation called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur. As a scalp tonic and color restorer, this preparation is vastly superior to the ordinary "sage tea" made by our grandmothers, and it can be bought for 50 cents and $1 a bottle at almost any first-class drug store, or will be sent direct by the Wyeth Chemical Company, 74 Cortlandt St., New York City, upon receipt of price.

For sale and recommended by Hargrove & Mullin.

"There must be some one for the duke to punish," heroically; "otherwise he will refuse."

"Still, suppose I bargain for you too?"

"When you tell him my name is Breunner there will be no bargaining."

"What has this clock mender to do with the case?"

"He is Count von Arnsberg."

"By George! And this gypsy?"

"The man who bribed me. Arnsberg is an innocent man, but this has to be proved."

"I will do what I can, Hans, and I will let you know the result after dinner tonight."

"That will be enough. But unless he concedes do not tell him our names."

"You have me a bit dazed," Carmichael admitted. "I ought to know what this blunder is to have something to stand on."

Grumbach shook his head. "Later every question will be answered, and remember at this interview Herbeck must not be present."

"Very well, I promise to see his highness this afternoon."

The three of them solemnly trooped out, leaving Carmichael bewildered. And while he was racking his mind he heard steps on the stairs. The door above shut noisily.

"By George, I'll attend to that this minute. We'll see what stuff this yellow haired boy is made of."

He mounted the stairs without sound. He grasped the handle of the door, boldly pushed it open and entered, closing the door and placing his back against it.

The vintner snatched a pistol from the drawer in the table and leveled it at Carmichael.

"Surely your majesty will not shoot an old friend?"

MANY LAID OFF AT GARY PLANT

No Reason Given for Shortage In Business.

TEMPORARY LACK OF ORDERS

Unexplained Decline in Call For Structural Steel Has Thrown Thousands of Men Out of Employment at Steel Company's Big Plant, Many of the Men Leaving For Pittsburg, Cleveland and Other Cities.

Gary, Ind., Sept. 16.—Temporary lack of orders for structural steel is throwing thousands of men out of work in the manufacturing plants near Chicago. It is reported that 2,000 men have been laid off in the last forty days at Gary. This means that nearly 33 per cent of the operating force has been dropped. Many of the men have gone to Pittsburg, Cleveland and other cities. It has been the policy of the superintendents to dismiss first the unmarried men among the operatives.

While a third of the activity in the manufacturing department has been suspended, work on the construction of the mammoth steel plant is going forward with full force. There have been no layoffs of the men employed on the new buildings and furnaces.

At the works of the Illinois Steel company in South Chicago the force has been reduced between 25 and 30 per cent. Lack of orders for steel is the cause given by Vice President Robinson. Mr. Robinson said that he could give no reason for the shortage of business.

LIGHT VERDICT

Woman's Punishment Is to Pay the Costs of the Trial.

Washington, Ind., Sept. 16.—A fine of $1 and costs was the verdict returned by a jury in the Daviess county circuit court in the case of the state against Mrs. Mae Edwards, the woman who shot Turner Huls, a neighbor, while he was trespassing on the Edwards farm.

Owing to sensational features connected with the case it has attracted widespread attention in this part of the state. Mrs. Edwards pleaded self-defense, testifying that she had not discharged the shotgun at Huls until he drew a revolver on her. The case took an unexpected turn at the conclusion of the testimony, being submitted to the jury without argument. The defendant is poor, and being unable to pay the fine and costs, which amount to about $100, was sent to jail. The woman had been charged with attempted murder.

Dr. Lomax, an Indiana Physician, Will Spend Life on Leper Island.

Tell City, Ind., Sept. 16.—Word has been received here, his former home, that Dr. Claude Lomax, who for the last five years has been connected with a hospital at Portland, Oregon, has gone to Leper Island in the Hawaiian group, to spend his life among the lepers. His object is to study leprosy with a view to curative experiments.

Dr. Lomax was born and reared in this county. His mother was prosecuted with grief when she learned of the step taken by her son.

The Balance Shifted.

Princeton, Ind., Sept. 16.—The whites being in majority at the Round-tree school, where a colored teacher was employed, as in the past, when the color balance was the other way, a break has occurred and the school is closed temporarily. It is probable a white teacher will be provided for the white children and the colored teacher retained for the colored children.

Mangled by Train.

Columbus, Ind., Sept. 16.—Clyde Bowell, aged twenty-seven of Jeffersonville, a switchman employed by the Pennsylvania, opened a switch in the yards here, and in attempting to board the moving train, fell. The rear trucks of the tender ran over his body, cutting off both legs and one arm. He was taken to the hospital, where he died.

Held on Robbery Charge.

Terre Haute, Ind., Sept. 16.—Clifford Morrison, a bartender, is under arrest accused of stealing $1,000 from A. A. Smythe. He denies the charge, although detectives found almost $500 buried in Morrison's yard. Smythe was drugged by the robber.

The Same Old Story.

Knightstown, Ind., Sept. 16.—While toying with a revolver, John Dwane of this place accidentally discharged it and the bullet struck Virgil Thorpe, night operator at the Big Four station, lodging in the abdomen. Thorpe is a young married man. His condition is regarded as serious.

Resists Board's Action.

Cannelton, Ind., Sept. 16.—The local school board has denied Roy Bell, a negro boy, the right to enter the high school and Bell has employed an attorney to bring action against the school board.

URNS AGAINST THOMAS TAGGART

(Well-Known Democrat Offers Aid To Republicans.

QUIT REACTIONARY CROWD

George W. Thompson, Attorney and Lecturer of Wide Reputation Places Himself at Service of Republican State Committee—Henceforth To Stand With Republicans for Progress and Good Government.

George W. Thompson, eminent lecturer and successful lawyer, has left the Democratic party, and will make speeches under the auspices of the Republican state central committee in Indiana.

Mr. Thompson is a resident of Indianapolis. He formerly lived at Marion, Ind., where he was a Democratic leader. The Democrats of Grant county for years counted Mr. Thompson as one of their strong and forceful speakers and organizers. He was placed on their party ticket repeatedly.

In 1906 Mr. Thompson was picked by Democratic leaders of the Eleventh Indiana district to be the Democratic candidate for congress. He declined to go on the ticket.

"At that time," says Mr. Thompson, "I was thinking very seriously of quitting the Democratic organization, and had fully decided to get out of politics."

"I am tired of Taggartism. I refuse to stand for boss methods any longer. So I propose to leave the Democratic organization as it is now controlled, and freely join my fortunes with the Republican party. I expect to stay with the Republicans so long as they steer the right course. I hope never again to part company with the Republicans."

"For the last eight years I have been thinking of changing my political affiliations. I was raised a Democrat. My family is made up of Democrats. It was not easy to quit the old associations. But ever since I arrived at man's estate and achieved independence in business, I have been thinking for myself, and working out a course of action. I have found that the Republican party offers to the independent thinker the things most worth while."

"I have decided that Taggartism is not compatible with the best political living and conduct. I have severed with the Democratic organization quietly. I am out of the game. I seek nothing. I am glad to be able to help the Republican cause. My voice will be lifted for the progressive policies of the Republican party from this time on."

George W. Thompson is well known all over the state. His famous lecture, "The Trial of Jesus, From a Legal Standpoint" is familiar to the people. Mr. Thompson is in great demand as a lecturer. His services on the stump will be highly appreciated by Republicans.

POLITICAL PARAGRAPHS

The Indiana voter is a judicial progressive.

Indiana will do herself proud in greeting Col. Roosevelt October 13.

President Taft's conservation speech is in line with the nation's sober and enlightened thought.

The Democratic party offers nothing "just as good."

There is no such thing as a Democratic substitute for prosperity.

The low price era is a low wage era.

Indiana people are not ready to biter away prosperity for uncertainty.

The Republican party makes an earnest, honest and intelligent effort to be right. The Democratic party opposes what the Republican party does. That is why the Democratic party is more often wrong than right.

Roosevelt knows what to do with a Lorimer in Illinois. What would he do with a Shively in Indiana?

Would John V. Kern sit at table with the Iscarlot Eight?

Indiana Republicans are marshaling with Roosevelt for progress.

Tom Brooley is "in bad" with labor. This means Lew Ellingham has company in misery. Brooley, Democratic candidate for state statistician, tried to foist an anti-labor election law on the state. Ellingham, Democratic candidate for secretary of state, is attacked by the typographical union.

Record On View.

If the record is desired to prove what Senator Beveridge has done for labor, it is not difficult to find, nor is it hard to read. Labor men of Indiana are sending the record abroad so that all the voters many scan it and be governed according to their idea of justice and right.

INCREASE WEIGHT QUICKLY

Simple Way for the Thin and Pale to be Plump and Rosy.

Samose can hardly be termed a medicine, it is in reality a flesh forming food. Taken before or after meals, it mingles with the food you eat, enables it to assimilate and readily digest, so as to make rich blood and pleasing plumpness.

After Samose has been used a week or ten days a noticeable gain in weight is seen. The sallown complexion will become rosy, the sunken cheeks will have a ruddy glow, the eyes will be bright, the breath sweet and the step elastic.

Thos. W. Lytle's customers have told him of the remarkable results following the use of Samose, the great flesh forming food and they are so thoroughly convinced of its reliability that they are selling it under their personal guarantee to refund the money if it does not do all that is claimed for it. Sent postpaid on receipt of price, 50 cents.

DR. CLEMENSON

Sentenced to Life Imprisonment For Wife Murder.

Chicago, Sept. 16.—Dr. Haldane Clemenson, convicted of murdering his wife, Mrs. Nora Jane Clemenson, appeared before Judge McSweeney in the criminal court and heard the final sentence of life imprisonment imposed upon him. His face flushed and he was too overcome to make any comment upon the court's decision. A bill of exceptions will be taken to the supreme court in October.

PRESIDENT DAVILA BETWEEN TWO FIRES

Morgan On One Side, Indignant Populace On the Other.

Tegucigalpa, Honduras, Sept. 15.—This city is in a turmoil. The proposed ratification of the Morgan loan is the cause of the trouble. President Davila favors the ratification of the loan and recently announced that the agreement with the New York bankers would be signed. Senor Paredes, the Honduran minister at Washington was instructed to sign the convention, but Paredes is opposed to the loan and the minister asked Davila to send another man to Washington for that purpose.

Before Davila could carry out his plan to have the agreement signed a storm broke out here. All of the anti-American politicians in Honduras are opposed to the loan and they have rallied their forces to prevent Davila from ratifying the convention. Tegucigalpa is full of angry politicians who have assumed a threatening attitude toward the president. The result is Davila is between two fires. If he signs the loan his former political supporters threaten to put him out and install Policarpo Bonilla in the presidential chair. If he refuses it will bring on his head the wrath of the state department at Washington and incur the enmity of J. P. Morgan and Company.

Mannell Bonilla, who is not related to Policarpo, favors the ratification of the loan and his resumption of activity in the revolutionary line indicates that the Wall Street interests are aiding him and that the overthrow of Davila has been definitely decided upon by the financial powers.

NIGHT RIDERS FIRE BARN

Both Equity and Non-Equity Society Men Suffer Loss.

Brookville, Ky., Sept. 16.—Night riders, presumably, burned two barns in Bracken county and although the losses were small, both Equity and anti-Equity men suffered, the barns of W. O. Bradford, an Equity Society solicitor, and George B. Kenny, a non-Equity planter, being burned.

Bands of masked men appeared simultaneously at both places soon after midnight and were seen setting fire to the barns. During the night rider troubles in Bracken county last summer, Mr. Kenny permitted the state militia to encamp on his farm, and since that time he has frequently been threatened with violence.

Skilled Bill Raiser at Work.
Terre Haute, Ind., Sept. 16.—Two skillfully raised bills have been handed in at Terre Haute banks by merchants who had accepted them as good. Both had been raised from $1 to $20. The eagle was erased and the stamp of the First National Bank of St. Louis printed in its place.

Effect of the Colonel's Speech.
Paris, Sept. 16.—The government has prohibited the national Egyptian congress to hold its projected meeting in France. This is an unusual measure. It is attributed to France's impression caused by Colonel Roosevelt's speech on the Egyptian question.

Postmasters Get a Raise.
Washington, Sept. 16.—The following Indiana postoffices will be placed in the presidential class, Oct. 1: Andrews, salary of postmaster, $1,100; Centerville, salary, $1,300; Mulberry, salary, $1,100; Pennville, salary, $1,600; Wingate, salary, $1,000.

THE ILLINOIS NOMINATIONS

Result of Thursday's State-Wide Primaries.

WON BY A GENEROUS MARGIN

Uncle Joe Cannon's District Renominated True to Him, but Boutelle and Foss Did Not Fare So Well—Nearly All the Legislators Who Were Charged With Participation in the So-Called "Jackpot" Were Renominated.

Chicago, Sept. 16.—The renomination of Joseph G. Cannon for congress by a generous margin over Dr. Dowd, the overwhelming defeat of Henry S. Boutelle, standpat congressman in the Ninth district, by F. Gansberger, insurgent; the defeat of Representative George R. Foss in the Tenth district, and the renomination of nearly all the legislators who were charged with participation in the legislative "jackpot," are the striking features of the Illinois state-wide primary election.

Representative James R. Mann, against whom a strong fight was made by two insurgents, Joseph R. Burr and Louis J. Behan, in the Second district, has won. His friends did heroic work for him at the polls, believing he will be a formidable candidate for speaker of the house to succeed Cannon.

Lee O'Neill Browne, who was recently acquitted of the charge of bribing legislators to vote for William Lorimer for senator, was renominated. Robert E. Wilson of Chicago, under indictment for perjury and charged by other legislators with having distributed part of the "jackpot" in a St. Louis hotel bathroom, is renominated by a positive majority. John Broderick is also renominated. Edward D. Shurtliff, speaker of the house, was renominated, and David E. Shanahan of Chicago, an old member of the house, who has come in for a great deal of criticism, won easily.

Equivalent to Election.
Lexington, Ky., Sept. 16.—Caleb Powers, tried five times for murder, was nominated for congress in the Eleventh district in Thursday's primaries. He laid in jail eight years after the assassination of William Goebel. He defeated Congressman Edwards for renomination, which is almost equivalent to election.

SHAKERS SIGN OVER ESTATE

Transfer $150,000 Property to Man Who Agrees to Support Them.

Harrodsburg, Ky., Sept. 16.—The Society of Shakers, whose estate is near High Bridge, has transferred to Colonel George Bohon its holdings of 1,800 acres of the best land in Mercer county. The estate is valued at $150,000, and in addition to a cash consideration of $5,000, Colonel Bohon binds himself to support and care for the individual members of the society during the remainder of their lives. There are only fourteen of the Shakers left, and their ages range from seventy years upward.

DR. WILSON'S SMILE WON ALL DELEGATES

Notable Scene in the Trenton Convention.

Trenton, N. J., Sept. 16.—Dr. Wilson was playing golf at Princeton when he got the flash of his nomination for governor. He had no time to waste at the outdoor game when he found he had beaten the colonel boy of the indoor game, the first ballot. The convention was shouting for him and Princeton was only twelve miles away, so the Jersey Democrats' new general lit out for his army and his auto made some speed on the hard road.

He dropped in on the shouters like a neighbor making a social call. You saw his smile before you noticed his gray felt hat or the dark suit he wore. He gave the delegates two or three minutes to open up the enthusiasm valve, and then he made them a half-hour speech, a sober, clearly put exposition of his views on what he termed the three main issues—reorganization and economy in administration, the equalization of taxation and the control of corporations. Half the delegates followed him back to his machine.

It appeared to an onlooker as if the rancor that had been developed by the incessant squabbles of balloting had been melted by the doctor's smile, and the delegates meant what they said when they promised him undivided support. The convention was not a Bible class gathering by any means. New Jersey conventions seldom are. But this year they did not bang each other over the heads with chairs.

Miss Flossie Vivian Whittaker and Ira Moore were married Wednesday evening at seven o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Noah Whittaker in Carthage. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Carl Berry, a minister of Carthage. Miss Mabel Mossburg played the wedding march and several selections of wedding music all during the service. The bride's dress was of sky blue messaline, trimmed with pearls. Only the close relatives of the family were present. Light refreshments were served. Mr. and Mrs. Moore went to Greensburg yesterday for a brief visit.

The marriage of James R. Sage and Miss Mary L. Root was solemnized at the M. E. parsonage at eight o'clock Wednesday evening in the presence of a few relatives, the Rev. H. W. Baldrige officiating, says the Milroy Press. The bride is a daughter of James A. Root and had been raised by her grandmother, and is one of Milroy's most charming young ladies, and the groom is the gentlemanly clerk at Barton's drug store, and is one of the town's promising young men. They both have a host of friends who wish them a long and happy married life. After the ceremony they went to the home of her brother, George, where she had lived. They will soon go to housekeeping in Milroy.

Moore, who is well known here, he having had charge as superintendent of the Laurel schools some years ago, was married on Sunday, September 4th, to Miss Pearl Shaw, a teacher in the high school in the city of Will's adoption in Oklahoma, and has a large circle of friends in Laurel and throughout the county with whom we join in extending congratulations and best wishes.

PICKING SECOND CROP OF BERRIES

Large and Delicious Strawberries Are to be Had at the Home of Charles Allen.

VERY UNUSUAL OCCURRENCE

Strawberries in September, that is something new for Rushville, but it is the case this year. The big red berries are now being picked at the residence of Charles Allen in East Eighth street. It is the second crop which has been raised off of the vines this year. The berries are as large as they were on the first crop and are just as delicious. Local people are disposed to believe that the second crop is a very unusual occurrence.

It seems that the weather conditions this year have been largely the cause of the two separate yields of strawberries. They are now being sold on the Indianapolis markets when in former years home-grown berries were to be had only in the spring of the year. From many counties over the State comes the news that a second crop of strawberries is being picked, so that the local condition is no different than it is in other portions of the State. At any rate it is very unusual.

SEASON FOR WATER FOWLS IS NOW ON

It is Lawful to Hunt Ducks, Wild Geese, Woodcock and Other Birds.

GAME WARDENS REAP HARVEST

The hunting season has come and last Monday the open season for ducks, brant, wild geese, woodcock, plover and shore birds began. Now comes the season when the county clerk's office is kept busy issuing hunters' licenses and also when the game warden reaps his harvest, for there are always those who believe that licenses and other restrictions are meant for everyone but themselves. In Indiana it only costs a dollar for a year's hunting license with the many privileges the laws of this State allow. Many already have licenses, but there are others who will not obtain licenses and will be liable to prosecution.

What Our Neighbors Are Talking About

SMALL CHILD SUES.

(New Castle Times.)

Two years ago, at Cambridge City, a number of local people who were awaiting a train to come home, were unwilling witnesses of an accident in which a young child was maimed by a Pennsylvania train. The child was badly injured, but finally recovered, and an echo of the accident is heard in a damage suit filed in the Wayne circuit court.

Mildred Locke, a child six years old of Cambridge City, has brought suit through her father against the Pennsylvania railroad for $2,500 damages. The complaint alleges that she is entitled to this sum for injuries received when a Pennsylvania locomotive struck her at the Jones street crossing, Cambridge City, on the night of September 12, 1908. The father, Eric L. Locke, has also sued the railroad for $1,500 for the trouble, expense, medical attention and loss of time sustained by the injury to the child.
